Akhanda Seva for International Shanti (Operation Shanti)

Dear Friends,

The 2009–2010 year (March ending) brought difficult times for many. It was also a year of growth for us. As the people we help continued to change and grow, our programs also grew. During the year, we:

- Saw Karunya Mane’s (“KM”) child count go from 32 former street and slum kids to 43 as of March 2010 and 51 as of June 2010.
- Enjoyed continuing behavioral and health improvements in the kids at KM, including excelling in school and becoming more self-disciplined.
- Expanded Project Food and More (“PFM”) from 23 initial children to 51 as of March 2010; PFM provides monthly support to destitute children orphaned by HIV/AIDS and other diseases and now supports single, HIV+ women abandoned by their families.
- Refocused our efforts on the streets of Mysore to provide maintenance and support to our women and children who work and live on the streets, as they have become more self-reliant and independent.

	Kids We Help
	March 2009	June 2009	March 2010	June 2010
Karunya Mane	32	42	45	51
Project Food and More	31	39	51	51
Street People Program	10–20	10–20	10–20	10–20

At Karunya Mane, we continue to see our children grow and change in positive ways. They have gained more self-discipline, continue to study well in school, understand the difference between right and wrong, and have more appreciation for their living environment. We continue to endeavor provide our kids with everything they would receive in a normal home environment. To this end, this year we made a few changes:

- Improved the meals we serve, using higher quantities of dal (lentils) and vegetables in their sambar (curry), serving ragi mudde (millet balls) nightly, and significantly reducing the sugar intake in their daily diet;
- Have upgraded the quality of the doctors that we take our children to, and continue to provide medical care for everything from fevers and sore throats, to nutrition, dental, and eye care;
- Enrolled three of our top children (in terms of both academic and daily behavior) into a CBSE school, an elite private school in the area typically attended only by middle- and upper-middle class children; and
- Implemented and refined a daily schedule of activities and duties, which ensures that the children are making the most of their days and nights.

As the majority of our children in our Street People Program (“SPP”) are now at KM, we’ve modified the SPP from providing daily support to weekly maintenance. Our street moms have become quite independent in properly caring for themselves; for example, they no longer fear visiting doctors, and a few have applied for and have received government assistance programs now that they have the proper identification. Our street moms have also been our best source for other destitute children and adults, and we continue to provide medical and educational assistance for such individuals.

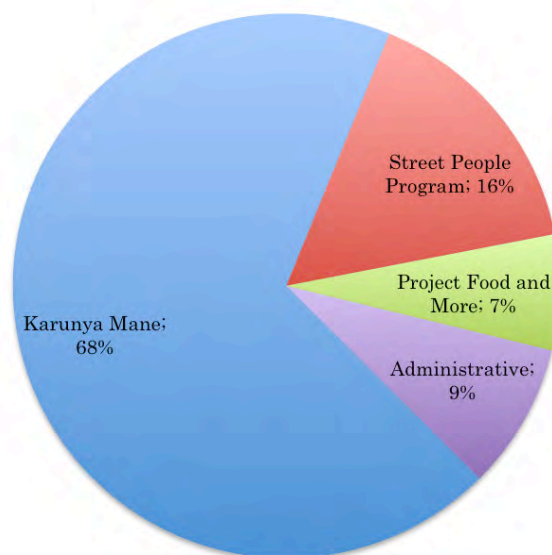

Project Food and More, in its second year, helps kids who were orphaned by HIV/AIDS. PFM provides qualified kids with a monthly care package containing basic necessities and nutritional supplements, and a bit of cash. As of March 2010, we supported 51 children and their guardians in this program, and we have expanded the program to support HIV+ women who have been abandoned by their husbands and families.

We continue to use the support that we receive from you in an efficient and sensible way, as shown below.

2009–2010 Expense Breakdown

In 2009–2010, 91.3% of our expenditures went directly to the people we help.

In this annual report, we highlight a few of our volunteers and donors who, by providing us with much appreciated support and encouragement, endeavor to give back to their society, whether from abroad or locally.

As always, we thank our supporters and child sponsors, who make it possible for our kids to enjoy their childhood and grow up to be responsible adults. Unlike the years when they lived on the street, our kids are now enjoying just being kids.

As we closed out the year, we found ourselves facing the challenge of needing to find additional space for Karunya Mane. Countless children could benefit from living in a facility such as KM and it breaks our heart when we have to turn away a destitute child because of a lack of space. However, we are confident that with the continued support from our generous and kind donors, we will be able to continue to grow as our programs reach out to more and more kids and moms who need help.

Thank you and peace to you,

The Board of Directors

About us

Akhandha Seva for International Shanti, also known as Operation Shanti, is a charitable organization with programs in Mysore, India. We serve the poorest children and their families living on the streets of Mysore or in abject poverty in slums.

Our vision...

Operation Shanti envisions a world in which the poor are given the opportunity to reach their full potential in life. We endeavor to spread peace, goodwill, and hope throughout our world by helping the poorest and neediest gain status and their rightful place in their societies. Often, the poor are robbed of their human rights, are discarded, treated inhumanely, and ignored. The ultimate goal of our work is to give the poor back their rights as human beings.

Our mission...

Our mission is to directly improve the lives of exploited, at-risk, destitute children and the forgotten, suffering elderly, enabling them to become “beacons of light” and share the same gifts of peace, goodwill, and generosity with others for the rest of their lifetimes.

We help the poorest and neediest children and elderly, and the forgotten destitute, with the basic human needs: food, shelter, medical services, and educational assistance. As we believe that every human can and should stand on his/her own, we are there to help the destitute begin to help themselves.

How we conduct ourselves

Operation Shanti has certain beliefs that are the foundation of our work. These rules of conduct are as follows.

- We believe that every human life is of equal value. We do not accept discrimination in any form.
- We believe in the power of patience, compassion and tough love in transforming human lives.
- We treat those we help, and those with whom we work, as we would want to be treated.
- We give a hungry person only food that we ourselves would also eat.
- We give our employees and volunteers tasks that only we ourselves would also do.
- We are humble and mindful in our actions and words. We seek and heed advice and counsel from those who know more than we do.
- We believe in learning along the way, especially from our mistakes, and in sharing our mistakes and lessons with others to avoid repeating the same mistakes.
- We refrain from imposing our belief systems on others.
- We take action that reflects the long-term nature of our commitment.
- We avoid criticizing unless that criticism comes with a suggestion on how to make it better.
- We are open-minded to change, improvement, innovation and traditions that work.
- We take responsibility for our actions, no matter what the consequences.

Our programs

We have been working directly on the streets of Mysore with street children and their families since 2005. Our programs include our Street People Program, Karunya Mane (our shelter for destitute kids), and Project Food and More (“PFM”), which supports destitute children orphaned by HIV/AIDS.

Arun and Omshakti and Friends

Arun and Omshakti, employees at the local office of a large IT company in Mysore, have been volunteering at Karunya Mane for the past year. They bring other friends on the weekends to engage the kids in various fun activities. Recently, they planted several trees on our grounds. The kids enjoy their time with young professionals like Arun and Omshakti, who take a genuine interest in their wellbeing and quality of life at KM.

KARUNYA MANE

Karunya Mane (“House of Compassion for the Poor”) opened on February 10, 2008. Karunya Mane provides a healthy and safe home environment for the poorest street and slum children who have nowhere else to go.

About 14% of our kids at Karunya Mane have no parents, another 37% have one parent—usually a mother—and the rest of the kids (49%) have a mom and a dad who are destitute and cannot properly care for their children.

Karunya Mane Kids – Family Structure March 31, 2010

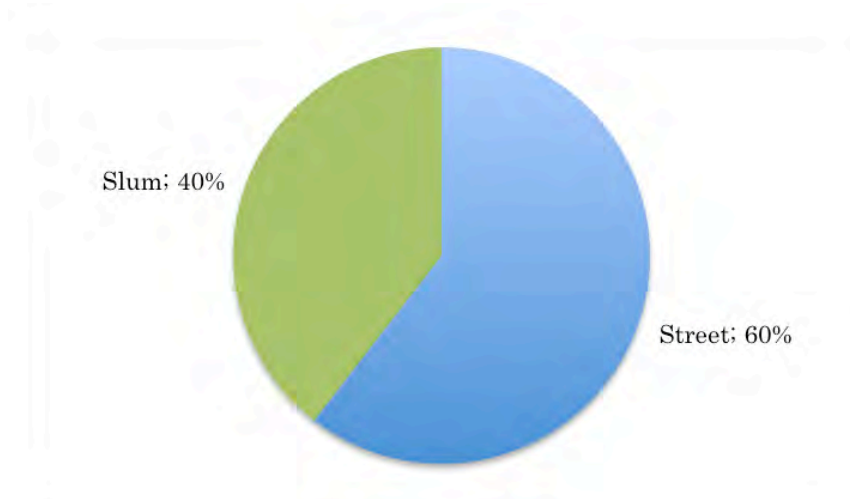

Karunya Mane provides our children with everything that a child in a middle-class home environment receives—proper adult supervision, a bed, clothing and footwear, good and clean food, filtered water, education and after-school tutoring, discipline and patience, medical care, opportunities to socialize, extracurricular activities, and lots of fun and hugs.

The kids at Karunya Mane engage in karate lessons twice a week, on Tuesday and Sunday mornings at 6:00 a.m. The oldest boys and girls have earned their blue belts.

We house about an equal number of boys (23) and girls (20), in separate quarters with common eating and study areas. We take in girls because they are the most vulnerable in this society. We take in boys because, without proper guidance, they are likely to grow up to be wife-beaters and alcoholics—the problem that many of our street and slum moms face with their own men.

Karunya Mane Kids – Where They Come From
March 31, 2010

STREET PEOPLE PROGRAM

The objective of our Street People Program is to be a significant resource for destitute children and women living on the streets. These individuals often have nowhere else to turn for help and an insufficient number of charitable organizations work directly on the streets.

Karunya Mane now houses most of the children who have come through our Street People Program since 2005. The program continues to support their mothers who work on the street, and other destitute women and men who have nowhere else to turn for basic necessities, such as food, shelter, medical assistance, and educational opportunities.

Our core group of “street moms”—the women who used to live on the street who now live in houses that we helped them rent—remain loyal and an excellent resource for us. These women assist us in helping other destitutes living on the streets and refer other street children to Karunya Mane. Since most of the kids of our “street moms” live at Karunya Mane, they have seen the positive changes in the behavior of their kids, and are very supportive of our work.

Helping street people is not always an easy task. For various reasons, many do not trust others who try to help them, and many are set in their ways of living on the street and do not want to or cannot change. We continue to facilitate change, to help the homeless improve their quality of life.

Kavita, one of our street moms, earns a living making flower leis (or “malas”) that she sells for 10 rupees a meter. Kavita suffers from health issues but has made dramatic improvements in her lifestyle and enrolled her two boys at Karunya Mane, as she wants them to have the chance for a better life than she has had to date.

PROJECT FOOD AND MORE

In September 2008, we started Project Food and More (PFM), an effort to assist children from the poorest backgrounds who have lost one or both parents to HIV/AIDS. These children live with another family member, typically a grandmother who is also destitute, and now faces the challenge of having to feed another mouth (or two).

Qualifying for PFM requires that a child has lost one or both parents (or if there are two parents, both are unable to work given their health issues), and that the child’s current guardian is very poor and struggles to feed him or her. We conduct due diligence visits to the living conditions of potential PFM candidates to ascertain that a child and his or her caretakers are indeed poor.

We provide a monthly care package for each PFM child. This care packages includes:

- Nutritional items such as lentils, protein powder, and healthy biscuits;
- Hygiene-related items such as mosquito repellent, bath and laundry soap, and toothpaste; and
- A small stipend.

The guardians use the stipend to pay rent on their houses or shacks (typically around Rs.200/US$6 to Rs.800/US$8 per month) and to purchase additional food. Sometimes, they are able to save a little for the child’s future.

We work with an HIV clinic in Mysore that has an outstanding pediatric HIV program. They refer the poorest children registered at their clinic for possible enrollment in our program.

As an example of the children we enroll into PFM, this year we took in Prasad and mother Jaya. Jaya worked as a day laborer when she could but, because of her health condition—which also affected her mental status—she was transferred to a terminal care facility for the poor. Her son Prasad now lives with his aunt Putamma. Putamma is healthy but poor, and cannot work often as she must now care for Prasad. Putamma's husband had a stroke in 2007 and also has difficulty securing work given the paralysis on one side of his body. Prasad and Putamma now visit us monthly for their care package.

PFM has been recently expanded to assist HIV+ women in the same way. A woman must meet certain criteria: has been abandoned by their husbands and families (usually the in-laws), may or may not be a single mother caring for her children alone, and has little or nothing in terms of personal resources and the means to earn a living.

Sanjay's House

Sanjay is a 12-year-old HIV+ boy in Project Food and More. His mother does not work and his father works as a day laborer when he is able to (given health issues), and earns about 1500 to 2000 rupees a month (US$35 to US$44 per month). Sanjay has an older sister, age 13, who is negative. The family lives in a one-room house in a slum area of Mysore that they rent for 500 rupees a month. Both children attend a nearby government school.

The year in review*

Street People Program

During this, our fifth year of our Street People Program, we continued our work directly on the streets of Mysore, with assistance for 10 to 20** children, mothers, and grannies.

Our program has changed from prior years, as most of the street children with whom we worked are now at our shelter, Karunya Mane. We continue to support their mothers, who now live in houses that we help rent for them, and who work on the street selling flowers and vegetables. We provide them with a weekly stipend and medical assistance and, in return, these women have become a very useful resource for us in referring other poor women and kids to our programs.

Lakshmi was left on the streets of Mysore when she was a little girl. She managed to survive and marry a man who also grew up on the street. They have two little girls, Latha and Jyothi, who both live at Karunya Mane and attend school. Lakshmi and her husband now live in a house that we helped them rent, and Lakshmi earns a living selling vegetables or by begging. She has improved her behavior since we first met her in 2005 and has come to understand the value of an education.

* Names have been changed for privacy reasons.

** The number varies by day, given the transient nature of the homeless.

Karunya Mane

This year, we saw continued progress and improvement in the kids at Karunya Mane in all areas of their lives. Karunya Mane ended the 2009–2010 year with 43 children (51 as of June 2009).

Karunya Mane Kids – Family Statistics
March 31, 2010

Karunya Mane employs three permanent staff members, six after-school tutors, and two watchmen, and utilizes volunteers where needed. The tutors work with our kids for an hour and a half every day after school and our staff are dedicated to the well being of our children.

We continue to emphasize schoolwork during the school year, and were pleased with the results: all of our children received As and Bs in their classes, and they really do enjoy studying and learning. Equally importantly, the kids are developing good study habits. The older children, who once lived on the street where they were unable to attend school regularly, are still behind in school but are catching up—four boys skipped a grade given their outstanding performance last year.

Chittra: A Special Volunteer

Chittra, a woman who lives in our neighborhood, is a very special person to our kids. The girls at Karunya Mane have adopted her as their special "aunty", and she has taken to them as if they are her own children. She arrives at our shelter at 4:30 a.m. most mornings to help the little ones with their daily bath and morning routine, and spends a lot of time with the older girls during the weekends. Her family also contributes in many ways to Karunya Mane and the overall positive environment of our home.

Project Food and More

Project Food and More (PFM), started in September 2008 in response to a visible need to assist destitute children who have been orphaned by HIV/AIDS, has grown from 23 kids to 31 kids in March 2009 and 51 kids as of March 2010.

Number of Kids in Project Food and More

This past year, we increased the number of children that we help by 20, from 31 in March 2009 to 51 in March 2010. Most of the children now live with a grandmother, an uncle or aunt, or the remaining living parent—often a positive mom. These guardians must now feed and care for an extra mouth or two, while already very poor themselves.

We conduct due diligence through interviews and house visits to determine whether a child and his or her guardian is indeed poor. PFM kids and their guardians face many obstacles, including social stigma because of their health condition.

A few of the mothers and children in this program have been outcast by their own families, who have kicked them out of their houses and refuse to acknowledge them.

Many of the fathers who died were truck drivers who brought the virus home after long journeys on the road. They then passed it on to an unsuspecting wife, who then passed it on to her child during childbirth. Uneducated villagers often engage in extramarital relations, unaware of the risks involved. Many single mothers tell us that they had no idea they were positive until their husband passed away, and then someone told them to get tested.

The good news is that the government assistance programs provide free antiretroviral therapy to children and adults who need it. We endeavor to fill in the “holes” by providing nutritional and financial support to those who truly need it.

The kids always have a great time when friends, like Manjunath, visit Karunya Mane on Sundays. The kids truly enjoy such visitors, who often engage them in games and arts and crafts activities. We also thank our supporters who have donated food items and numerous meals and birthday cakes in celebration of their own special days.

"I just wanted to thank you for allowing me to work with your kids. I had a great time meeting and playing with each one. They are an incredible group, one that I could not possibly imagine living on the streets. Before I had this experience there was a kind of disconnect between the people and kids I would see on the street and me. Going to Operation Shanti really made every one, every person, regardless of their social status, more personable and more human. I think it's wonderful what you have done for these kids and their family, and I commend your work in Mysore. I hope to come back in the following summers and work more with these kids who really carved out a place in my heart for themselves. I am currently working on typing up my thoughts, experiences, and feelings about Operation Shanti and I realize more and more how much these kids made an impact on me. I miss them all and wish them the best, say 'hey' to everyone for me. Thank you so much again for allowing me to do this."

-- Kiran Jones, entering his junior year in high school in the U.S., who spent weekends with the kids at Karunya Mane while visiting his relatives in Mysore.
